8 (7) 1 actually seen on the Phoenix FS35, there is a photo of ZE354R with this marking applied to both sides. This is the only aircraft known to have had them.

In some photos, the black inside the yellow outlines of the tail letters appears to be a slightly different shade than the tail itself. To replicate this, apply the black letter first, then the yellow outline. The yellow outline may also be used alone.

1988 Tiger Meet Cameri, Italy

Photos show ZE 355 with and without the tiger stripes on the rudder. It is unclear when these were applied. However, the Tiger Meet nose art is present in both instances.
